

For their environmental assessment, the proponent committed their proposed structure would not be above the road. But instead it would rise 25' above the road, and 55' above the Moon River, blocking the view. People won't come to Bala to see ugly buildings blocking the view.

The proponent committed to preserving this area, but have not. Instead they have cut down all the trees adjacent to Muskoka Road 169, north of the bridge.